

Just saying.....

Just when the caterpillar thought the world was over,
it became a butterfly.

Adrienne Seward

Let her sleep because when she wakes, she'll move mountains.

Sue Nightingale

The most beautiful things in the world cannot be seen or touched,
they are felt by the heart.

(from "The Little Prince")

Julie Carlton

A black and white photograph of a lone tree in a field under a dramatic, cloudy sky with a bright light source. The scene is captured in high contrast, with the sun or moon breaking through a thick layer of clouds, creating a powerful glow and long, soft shadows across the landscape. The foreground is a textured field of grass or crops, leading the eye towards the solitary tree on the right side of the frame. The overall mood is contemplative and hopeful, reflecting the theme of the quote.

For every cloud there is a silver lining.

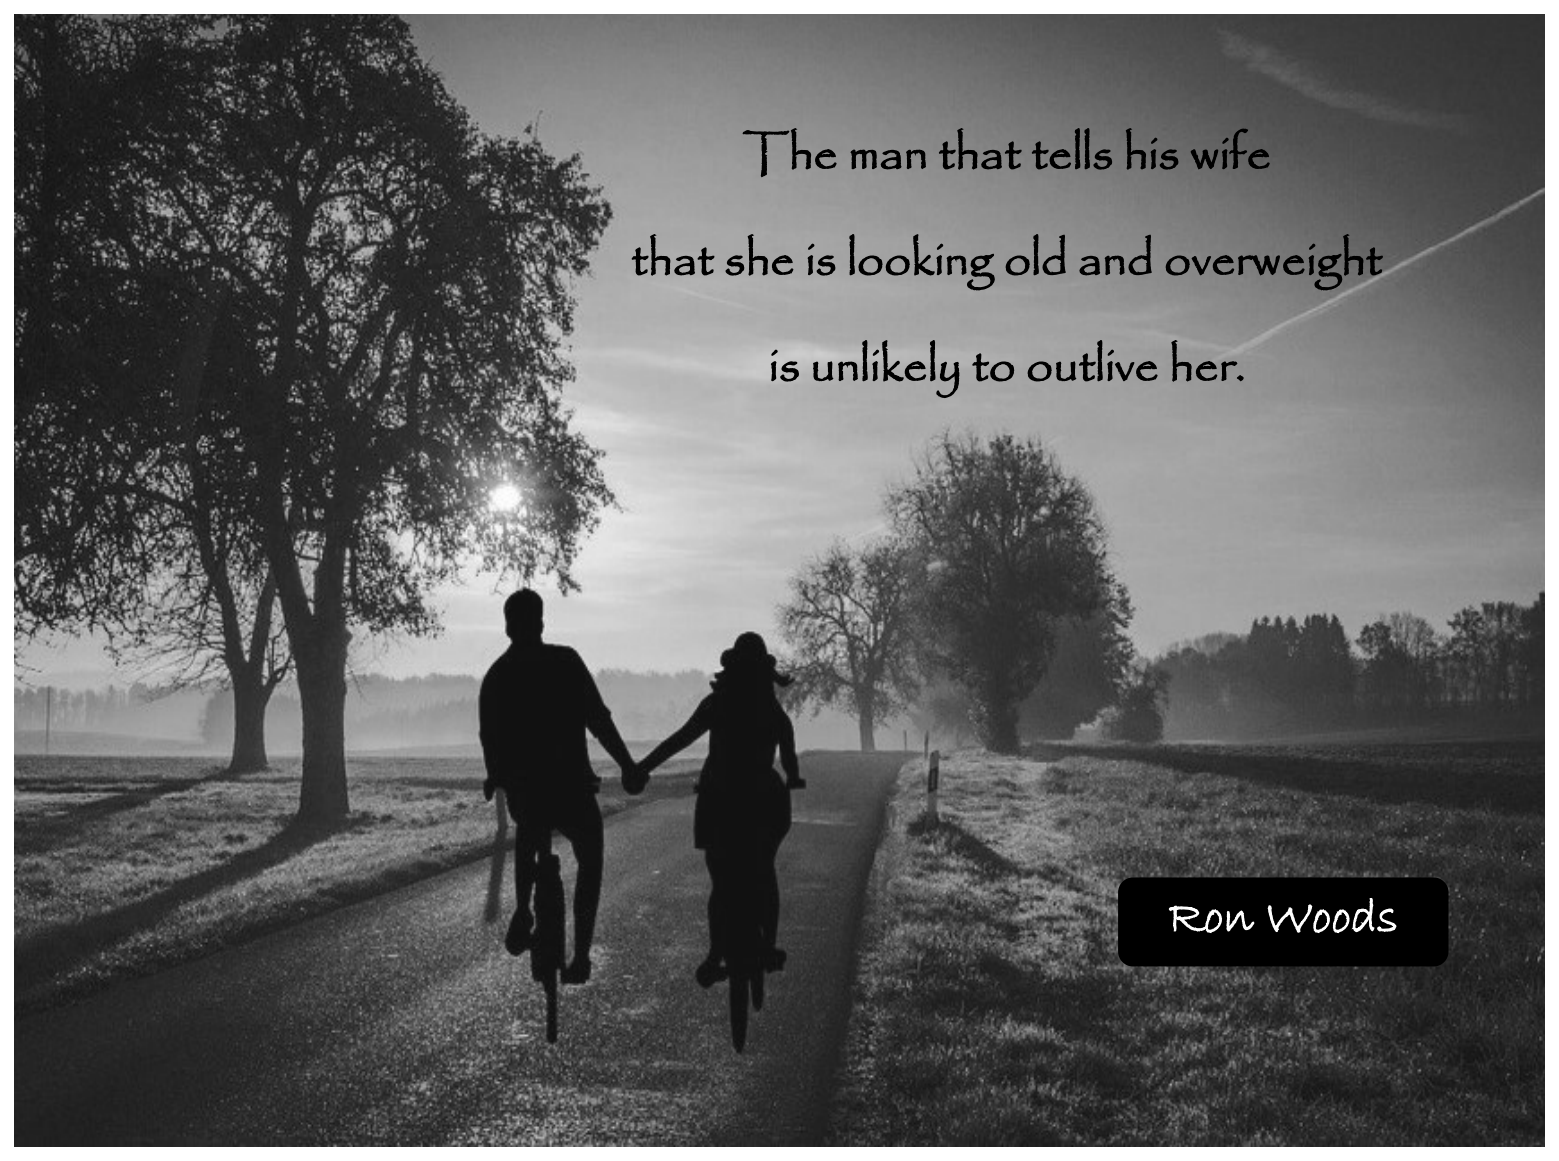

Graham B. Smith

A black and white silhouette of a hiker with a large backpack, standing on a ridge and pointing towards a vast, layered mountain range under a hazy sky. The hiker is positioned on the right side of the frame, facing left. The mountains in the background are rendered in various shades of gray, creating a sense of depth and atmosphere. The overall mood is contemplative and adventurous.

Shirley Vidovich

The moving finger writes and having writ, moves on.

(Omar Khayyam)

The man that tells his wife that she is looking old and overweight is unlikely to outlive her.

Ron Woods

Give a person a fish, they'll eat for a day.

Teach a person to fish
and they'll eat for a lifetime.

Charmaine Woods

Judge ye not, lest ye be judged.

Mavis McIntosh

The best teacher, failure is!

Terry Nightingale

Here's to a successful impasse.

Mark Edge

A black and white photograph of a person walking away from the camera on a paved road. The person is wearing a t-shirt, shorts, and sneakers, and has visible tattoos on their arms and legs. They are pulling a black rolling suitcase. The road has dashed white lines and leads towards a hazy horizon with trees and a cloudy sky.

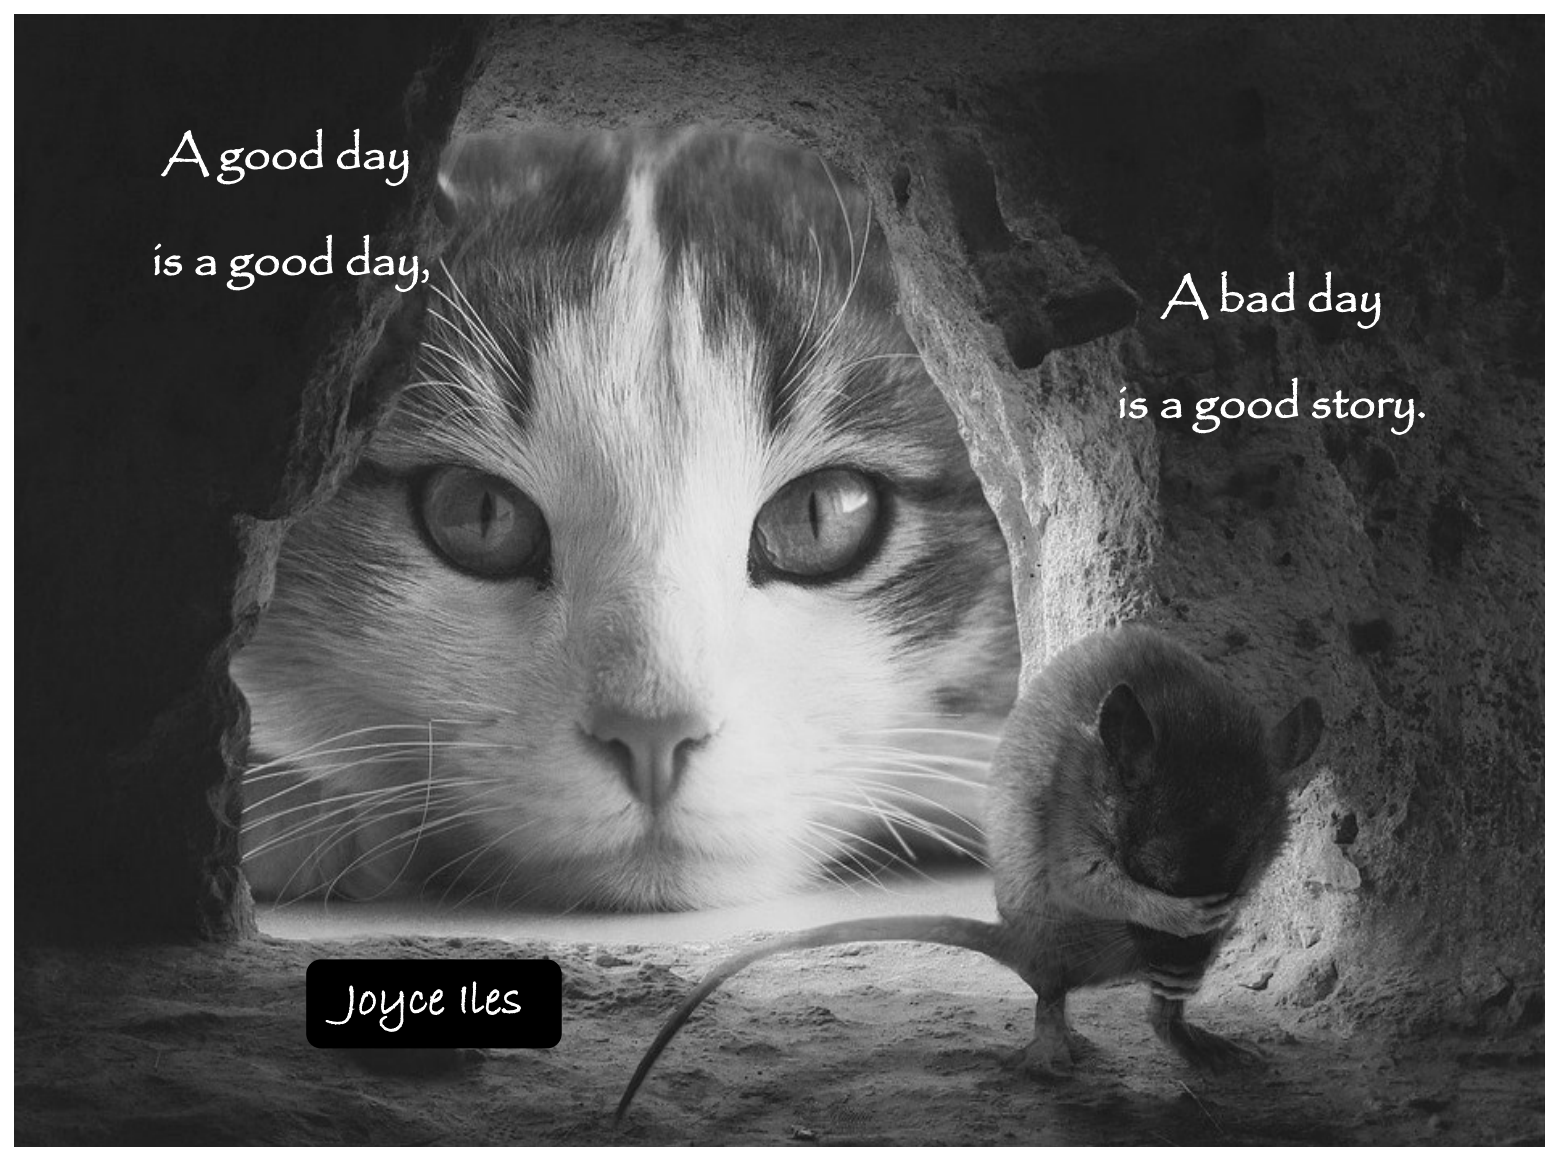

Craig Lennox

Remember, wherever you go, that's where you'll be.

If you can fake sincerity, you've got it made.

Barry Edge

A black and white photograph of a cat's face peering through a hole in a wall. The cat has a white face with dark stripes on its forehead and around its eyes. Its eyes are wide open, looking directly at the camera. To the right of the cat, a small mouse is standing on its hind legs, facing away from the camera. The background is dark and textured, suggesting a cave or a hole in a wall.

A good day
is a good day,

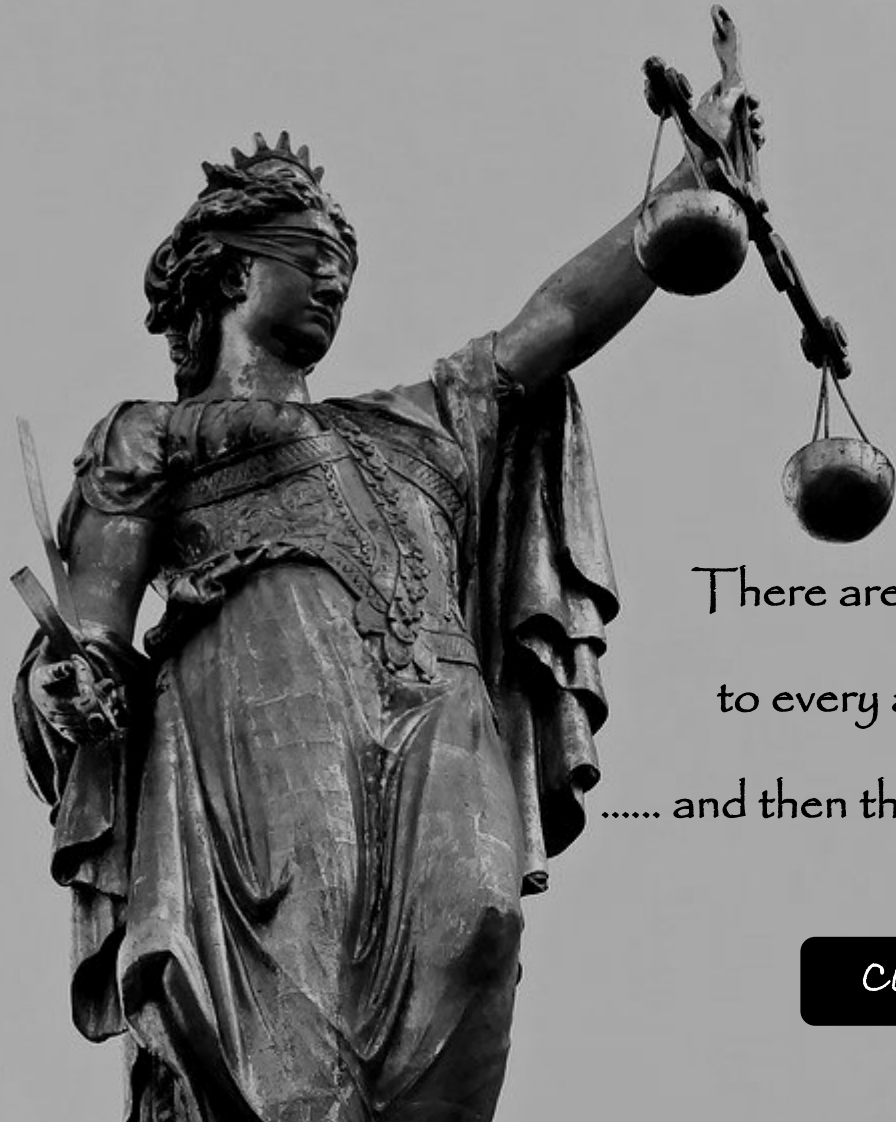

A bad day
is a good story.

Wendy Woods

If you don't stand for something,
you'll believe in anything.

There are two sides
to every argument
..... and then there's the truth.

Live for today ~ tomorrow may never come.

Here's to you as good as you are,

Here's to me as bad as I am.

But as good as you are

and as bad as I am,

I'm as good as you are

and as bad as I am.

Terry Duhig

If you can't say anything nice about a person ~ don't say anything at all.

Raylene Hower

Families are like branches on a tree.
They grow in different directions yet roots remain the same.

There is no grief that time
cannot lessen or soften.

Believe you can
and you're half way there!

Jenny Lynch

If it's to be, it's up to me.

Barbara Gurney

To walk a thousand miles,
first put one foot in front of another.

Everything will be alright in the end.

And if it's not alright,

it's not the end!

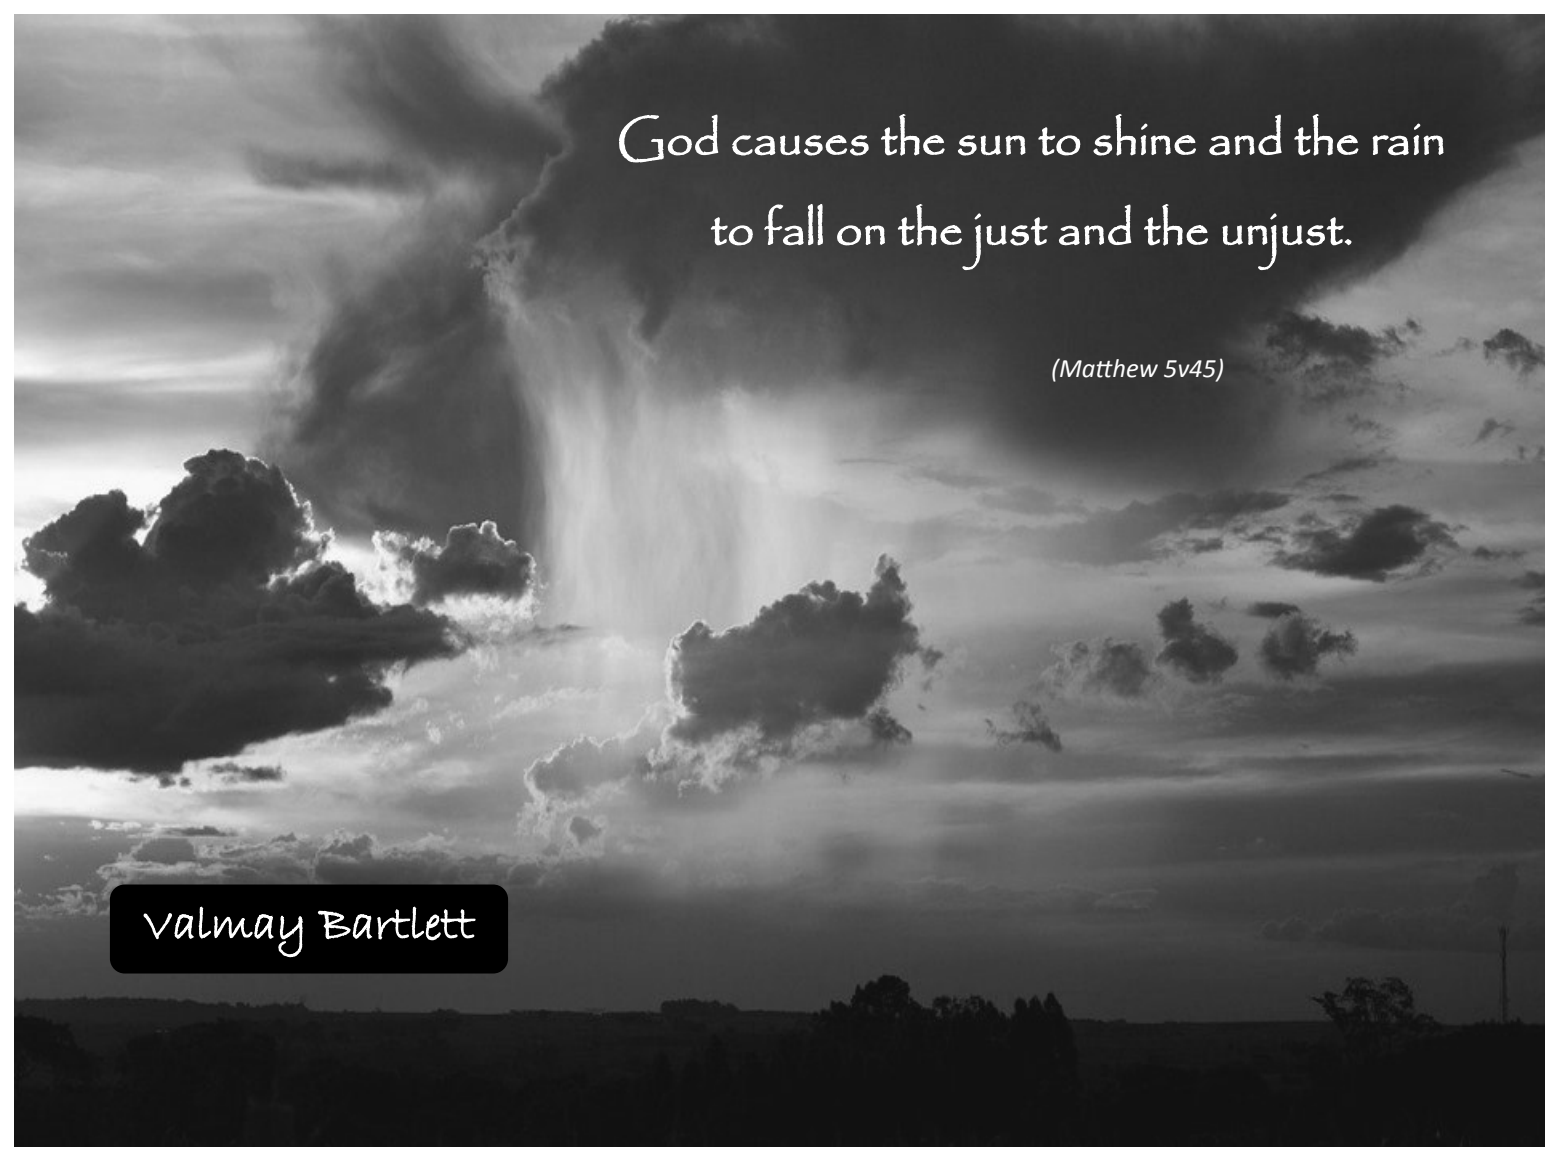

(John Lennon)

Norma Edge

Don't look back,
you're not going that way!

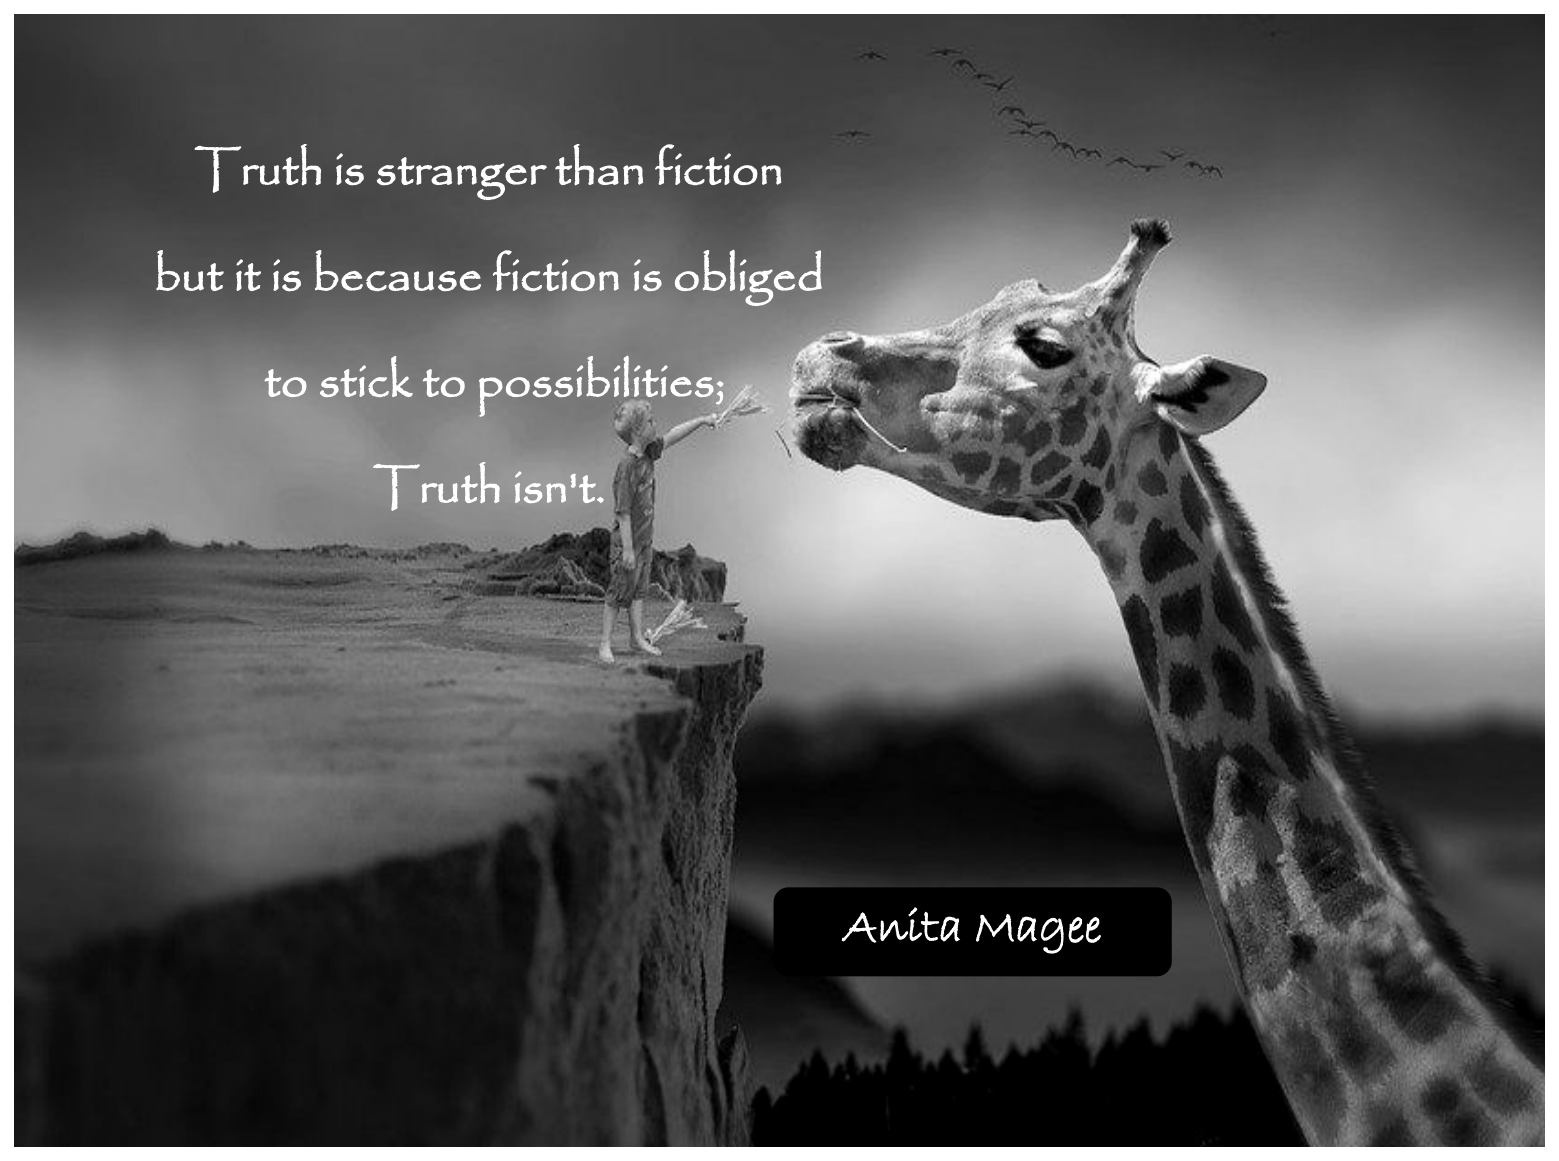

Lorri Lennox

God causes the sun to shine and the rain to fall on the just and the unjust.

A black and white photograph of a giraffe and a child on a cliff. The giraffe is on the right, looking towards the left. A small child is standing on the edge of a cliff on the left, reaching out towards the giraffe. The background is a vast, open landscape under a cloudy sky with birds flying in the distance.

Truth is stranger than fiction
but it is because fiction is obliged to stick to possibilities;
Truth isn't.

Why can we see the speck
in another's eye,
yet fail to notice the log in our own?

(Matthew 7:3)

Bruce McColl

You can not change the past,
but you can influence the future.

A black and white photograph of three swans on a nest. Two swans are in the foreground, facing each other with their beaks touching. A third swan is partially visible behind them. A single egg is visible in the nest between the two swans in the foreground. The background is a blurred body of water.

Terry Duhig

Never trouble with trouble until trouble troubles you.

A black and white photograph of a person standing in the center of a large, circular maze. The person is holding a flashlight, which illuminates the ground around them. The maze is constructed from dark, rectangular blocks, creating a complex network of paths and dead ends. The lighting is dramatic, with the flashlight beam being the primary source of light, casting long shadows and highlighting the textures of the maze walls.

Sometimes on the way to the DREAM - you get lost and find a better one.

Time is the most precious of gifts.

We create our own rainbows and storms
with shades of fragility and strength.

Anita Magee

A black and white photograph of a person's silhouette standing on a mountain ridge with arms outstretched towards a bright sun in a cloudy sky.

*Any day you wake up breathing,
it's a good day.*

Valérie Latimour

A black and white photograph of a hand holding a monarch butterfly. The hand is in the foreground, with the thumb pointing up and the butterfly perched on it. The background is a soft-focus image of a sunset or sunrise over water, with many heart shapes floating in the air. The hearts vary in size and opacity, some appearing as simple outlines and others as more solid, glowing shapes. The overall mood is romantic and tender.

Sue Palmer

Love is like a butterfly - it goes where it pleases and pleases where it goes.
